What does the Constitution mean to me?

Our country is once again tied together.
You can be who you want to be.
There is no need to hide in fear.
You can open up to the world.

Each and every word is written down,
For a reason.
Each and every person signed their name,
For a reason.

Now you are equal.
Women are equal.
Colors are equal.
Religions are equal.

You can walk where you want,
Sit where you want,
And eat where you want.
The Constitution is the answer.
