In the land of the brave and free,
Our Constitution stands like a sturdy tree.
With checks and balances, it's designed,
To keep our nation's rights aligned.

Three branches work to share the might,
Each keeping watch day and night.
The Executive, strong and true,
Makes sure the laws are followed through.

The Legislative, full of voices loud,
Makes laws for the country, standing proud.
They debate and discuss with care,
To make sure the land is fair and square.

The Judicial, with scales so fair,
Ensures justice is always there.
They interpret the laws with wisdom's grace,
Making sure our rights find their right place.

With these checks and balances in place,

Our freedoms stand in steady embrace.

No power can grow too big or tall,

For the Constitution guards us all.

So let's remember the balance we hold,

In this nation, courageous and bold.

With checks and balances, side by side,

We remain sovereign, with freedom as our guide.
