

*Checks and balances make us strong
We let the cracked bell go ding dong.*

*We need checks and balances
To help us with our challenges*

*All those fantastic balances and checks
Guide the law through all those different steps*

America does not have a king Liberty Bell come and ring.

*Franklin only had two years of school
Those writers must have been very cool*

*The thing they wrote was very big
Each one wearing a silly wig*

*When Franklin saw the chair
He wondered what was there.*

*When he saw the sun
The rising had begun.*

*The preamble is by we the ordinary
Not cause you're rich. Not cause you're scary*

*Congress won with our votes
They represent all the folks*

*So Congress needs to be foremost
It's not just an old signpost*

*If Congress makes laws and the President minds
He tells them, "No," and a veto he signs*

Senate 67 House 290 is a super majority Presidents might wish they had more authority

*The President appoints the judges
Then the Senate checks for smudges.*

*The President can't do whatever he wants
He can't take over stores and restaurants*

*The Constitution sees if it's right
Then the government gives a green light.*

*The judges cannot make the laws
The Constitution says that with no withdraws*

*If judges weren't checked
The country might have wrecked*

*The Congress should stop tyranny
Are we watching? We do our job terribly.*

*We need help from your friends and you
Or else we might have to tell America adieu.*
